PREFACE

This volume is a supplement to the United States Catalog published in 1912. It catalogs the books and pamphlets published in the United States and the chief importations in the six years from 1912 to 1917 inclusive. It is arranged on the same plan as the original catalog, by author, title, and subject; but owing to the fact that it is a compilation of the six annual volumes of the Cumulative Book Index for the period covered, the author entries are much fuller than in the United States Catalog, containing in fact, as far as possible, complete transcriptions of title pages, size, number of pages, illustrations, etc., as well as prices, dates of publication, publishers, Library of Congress card order numbers and occasional notes. During 1912 and 1913 the Cumulative Book Index reprinted from time to time such titles of the United States Catalog as needed revision because of change of price or publisher. When, however, prices became so unstable that it was impracticable to keep them up to date, titles were reprinted from the United States Catalog for changes in publishers only. It should be noted too that when a publisher's complete list is taken over by another publisher as the Outing Publishing Company's list was taken by Macmillan, Caldwell's list by the Dodge Publishing Company, or the Dana Estes list by the Page Company, the fact is indicated only in the publishers' directory at the end of this volume, unless for some other reasons the entries needed to be reprinted.

The six alphabets of the Cumulative Book Index for the years 1912 to 1917 have, however, been revised in every particular except for prices, and an effort has been made to remove the inconsistencies that inevitably appear in a record covering so long a period as six years. When more than one edition of a book has been published within the period covered, the latest edition only has been retained unless the publishers have given us definite information that the earlier edition is still in print. Out of print books have been marked o. p. when this information has been supplied. Those books out of print for the period of the war are not so indicated. It has not always been possible to complete the record of serial publications, particularly annual reports of societies; in many cases only the latest report is given. Postal cards and letters have been generously used in an effort to bring the record up to date in every respect, but too often no reply has been received.

It has been necessary to subdivide many subjects that did not receive subdivision in the smaller annual lists. This has been done as carefully as the sources of information would permit. It is not always possible to judge the contents of a book from publishers' or reviewers' notes and in some cases even these were lacking.

Some additional titles that have not appeared in the Cumulative Book Index, chiefly titles of government publications or of the less important pamphlets, have been included in this volume. They are relatively few.

It would be a pleasurable task to assign full credit for all the work contributed to this book by faithful members of the H. W. Wilson Company's staff. As it is difficult to explain the various processes that enter into the making of a volume such as this and the care and responsibility required in each, it is perhaps possible to make only a general acknowledgment of appreciation to those who have made personal sacrifices to see the work thru the press. Miss Estella Painter of the Reader's Guide staff has read the page and form proof. Mrs. Dorothy Smith Muller and Miss Alice Sterling, the latter of the Book Review Digest staff, have done the difficult and trying work of preliminary revision. Miss Dorothy Carpenter has given her whole time to this Supplement and is chiefly responsible, among other things, for the alphabetical order. Miss Leila Hildreth has carefully verified authors' names and dates. Miss Emma Teich and Miss Louise Teich to whose accuracy the success of the 1912 edition of the United States Catalog is due, have also shared the responsibility for this volume. Finally it is a particular pleasure to make grateful acknowledgment to Miss Agnes Van Valkenburg for her able editing of the Cumulative Book Index during the greater part of 1917.

EXPLANATIONS

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARD NUMBERS

The full information about a book is given under the name of the author, compiler, society, or government body responsible for its publication. The number at the end of the main entry is for use in ordering Library of Congress cards. When there has been no card for a particular title but a general card for the series to which the title belongs, the series number is used and enclosed in curves. When the card number is enclosed in [ ] it indicates that the card at Library of Congress is for a different edition of the book by a different publisher.

American and English annotated cases; ed. by W: M. McKinney and H. Noyes Greene. v 1-40 sh ea $5 '06-'16 Thompson

Beginning in 1912 this publication and American state reports, after the completion of 140 volumes, were consolidated. Up to and including v. 40, the Edward Thompson Co. continued to publish the set uniformly with the first 21 volumes. Bancroft, as the publishers of American state reports, continued that set with the same series, known as American annotated cases, 1912A to 1916B (A. & E. Ann. Cas. v. 22 to 40). After v. 40, A. & E. Ann. Cas., which is the same volume as Am. Ann. Cas. 1916B, both series are identical and are now known as Annotated cases (A. & E.) 1916C et seq.
